COOLIDGE POSITIVELY REFUSES TO BE CANDIDATE

DIVORCED WIFE OF HARRISON TO WED AGAIN

OAKLAND, March 21.—Elizabeth Wrenmore Harrison, divorced wife of Francis Burton Harrison, former governor-general of the Philippines, is to be married in Paris, April 14, according to Press dispatches received here today.

The former University of California student formally announced her engagement to day to Alexander Fitzsimons Graham Watson, wealthy Englishman and London investment broker.

Mrs. Harrison obtained a divorce in Paris, January 29, 1927, on desertion grounds, and three months later Harrison took as his fourth wife her younger sister Margaret, aged 18. He is 54.

Mrs. Harrison, daughter of Professor Clarence G. Wrenmore of the University of the Philippines, was the second of Harrison's wives who divorced him. He first married Miss Mary Crocker of San Francisco in 1900. They had two daughters, Virginia and Barbara. Miss Harrison was killed in an automobile accident in 1908.

The second Mrs. Harrison was Mrs. Mabel Judson Cox, whom Harrison met in Havana, Cuba, two months after his wife's death. In 1927, after Harrison was appointed governor-general of the Philippines by President Wilson, the then Elizabeth Wrenmore became a companion for his daughter, Mary, in Manila. Mrs. Cox Harrison returned to California, where she filed suit for divorce.

In the fall of 1918 Miss Wrenmore entered the University of California and began to wear Harrison's fraternity pin. The following (Continued on Page 5)

U.S. Condemns Russian Arms Pact Demand

GENEVA, March 21.—America today made unequivocal condemnation of the Russian demand of the Russian ukase that all army and navies of nations be disbanded. It regarded the movement as Utopian.

It took the stand that the Kellogg suggestions were more conducive to peace.

Ambassador Gibson broke his silence for the first time. His statements were so clear that they were like a knock-out blow. Gibson's speech was unsympathetic toward any of Moscow's ideas. He called them impractical and alleged that they reflected impatience. He scored the loss of time that their considerations might call for.

TWO YEAR FIGHT TO WIN HEALTH

A two-year fight to regain health ended at 7:30 yesterday morning for Mrs. Elsie K. Miller, 56, of 215 22nd street, who passed away at her home. Death came after a sudden relapse, when it was thought she was on the road to recovery following a major operation at the Alameda Sanitarium where she submitted to blood transfusion.

Last rites will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Curry's mortuary, with cremation at Sunset View crematory.

Mrs. Miller, for the past thirteen years a well-known resident of this city, is survived by the following children: John A. Miller, deputy income collector of Contra Costa county; Mrs. H. C. Barbour, El Paso, Texas; Otto, Ray, Gertrude, Frank, Clarence, Gilbert and Arthur Miller, all of Richmond. Two brothers-in-law also survive her: Gus Mueller, San Francisco, and Lettie Theil, Alameda, California.

Mrs. Miller's husband preceded her in death in 1915. She was a native of Hamburg, Germany. In 1871 she married Hans Miller in Chicago. The family came to Livermore, California, in 1893.

Mrs. Miller was a member of the War Mothers and the Brotherhood of American Yeoman. She won prominence as a writer in her early years, but retired from this field to devote her entire attention to her family. Mrs. Miller opened one of the first embroidery stores in this city.

H. J. Chambers Has Passed Away

Harry James Chambers, 78, passed away at the family residence, 134 Fifth street, last night after a brief illness. He was a native of New York and had been a resident of Richmond the past four years.

Deceased is survived by his widow, Mrs. Clara May Chambers, the following daughters: Mrs. Laura McGrath and Mrs. Alice Gunn of Richmond, Mrs. Olive Quaresma, Mrs. Evelyn Herdt, Mrs. Lulu Miller and Miss Ella Chambers of Sacramento; Mrs. Mary Moran of Oakland and the late Mrs. Mattie Armstrong of Sacramento; and the following sons, Robert W. Chambers and Charles Chambers of Richmond. He was the brother of Mrs. Mamie Nichols of Englewood, Colo., and W. F. Chambers of Los Angeles.

OFFICER HELD FOR SHOOTING OF YOUNG GIRL

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—Policeman Lloyd E. Groat of the Western Addition Station was held to answer on a charge of manslaughter by Police Judge Golden this afternoon. Bail was set at $3000 bonds or $1500 cash.

The young patrolman, from whose revolver came the bullet which took the life of Miss Bridget Kearney during a melee in front of Gymnastic Hall on Sutter street, February 26, did not take the stand. It has been his contention that he lost his gun in the fight and that the fatal shot was fired by someone in the crowd.

Six witnesses testified Groat shot the girl. Their testimony coincided in major respects. A composite of the pictures drawn by them showed Groat in gray clothing and Patrolman Walter O. Salisbury in uniform standing off assailants on the sidewalk with their revolvers as Patrick Kearney and his sister Bridget, descended the steps together.

Their hands were ordered up by Salisbury and Kearney, his back to the wall, was covered by Groat. The girl saw her fiancé, John Kearney and, calling to him, started toward him. A man rose from the sidewalk near Groat and began attacking him. Groat turned his gun from Kearney and was striking at his assailant with the muzzle when the weapon was discharged.

The girl fell, shot through the head and her fiancé dropped beside her with a flesh wound of the forehead. Kearney rushed at Groat and made a swing for his jaw, then turned to take his dying sister in his arms. A younger sister, Betsy Kearney, found them on the steps as she came hurrying out of the building. She asked her brother who shot Bridget and the brother pointed at Groat and responded: "He did."

In Concord, Wayman E. Ballenger will be re-elected city clerk without opposition as will Charles W. Guy, treasurer. Henry W. Bott, John J. Birmingham and John M. Soares will also be returned to office as city councilmen.

Ferry Solano Struck By Oil Tanker; 2 Hurt

MARTINEZ, March 21.—Two men were injured and lives of hundreds of Southern Pacific train passengers were imperiled when the giant ferry Solano was sideswiped by the Union Oil tanker Kern about 3000 yards off the Benicia ferry slip in a freak fog yesterday.

Captain Joseph Santos and Pilot Charles L. Bjork of the Kern were rushed to Crockett for medical treatment, Bjork being thrown from the pilot house to the deck and knocked unconscious in the crash. The Solano, with a seven-car passenger train, was not damaged. The Kern, enroute from Oleum to Pittsburg, was towed to drydock in Oakland.

Martinez Sees Liveliest Battle In Years Ahead Of County In Elections

MARTINEZ, March 21.—Of all incorporated cities in Contra Costa County which will elect governing boards on April 9, Concord stands alone in the unique distinction of being without a contest for any municipal office, while in the five cities of El Cerrito, Martinez, Walnut Creek, Pittsburg and Antioch the municipal campaign given promise of being one of the hottest in many years, says today's Martinez Gazette.

MARTINEZ

In Martinez there will be a lively scramble for the three vacancies on the council. George J. Winkelman has no opposition for the short term but Mayor F. H. Roberts and Raymond H. Jones, incumbents, are opposed by Charles Volpi, Guy O. Smith, John S. Connolly and F. P. Brady. T. D. Johnston is the only incumbent councilman retiring from office.

Raymond B. Johnson, Public Administrator, and John M. Reid, deputy county assessor, have no opposition for city clerk and city treasurer, respectively.

WALNUT CREEK

In Walnut Creek there are two expiring terms to be filled, that of Mayor Frank Mauzy, who is not a candidate, and Frank A. Marshall, appointed recently to fill an unexpired term. Marshall is out to succeed himself and the other candidates are Constable Harry Thompson, E. B. Bradley, Clifford Thompson has no opposition for city treasurer.

The office of city clerk of Walnut Creek is apparently a highly desirable one for there are four aspirants for the official title, two men and two women. Ira E. Ray, incumbent, is a candidate to succeed himself, and Frank R. Quigley has aspirations along that line. Mrs. Esther Hatfield and Mrs. Bernice Feagans are the two women who have qualified for a place on the ballot, seeking the clerkship.

SENATE ROWS OVER GOVERNOR SMITHS STAND

WASHINGTON, March 21.—With a dozen Senators clashing, Governor Al Smith's appointment of Harry F. Sinclair to the New York Racing Commission in 1920 was both scored and defended today in the most furious debate of the present session.

Before the verbal battle lulled, the connection of E. L. Doheny, California oil magnate, in the affairs of the Democratic party, and the wholesale prosecutions of Indiana Republican officials for alleged corruption were brought into the exchanges.

Senator Robinson (R) of Indiana led the attack upon Governor Smith, after Senator Copeland (D), of New York had read into the record the Governor's published scathing denunciation of attempts to bring him into the Sinclair Teapot Dome investigation.

"I am amazed at this outburst from this presidential candidate," said Robinson. "What started it all? Last Monday I merely asked whether Harry F. Sinclair was a member of the Smith administration from 1920 to 1925."

Robinson said the record showed that Smith appointed Sinclair to the Racing Commission on January 12, 1920, to fill an unexpired term, and on June 3 of that year appointed him to a full term of five years.

"The Governor thought so much of Sinclair's constructive ability and was so anxious to have him in his administration that he reappointed him for a five-year term," Sinclair resigned one month before his term expired. The Governor didn't fire him. I wonder why Governor Smith didn't say to Sinclair, 'You are unclean—we Democrats of Tammany Hall are thoroughly clean, and we don't want you, in our administration.'"

"No wonder the governor feels badly toward me. You know the old saying, 'Birds of a feather flock together.'"

Senator Tydings of Maryland broke in with the question "Does the senator (Robinson) believe the governor of New York was corrupt because he did name Sinclair?"

"I want the country to draw its own conclusions," retorted Robinson. Sinclair's appointment stinks to high heaven in my judgment."

A half dozen Democrats were on their feet by this time and the galleries were in an uproar.

Senator Barkley (D) of Kentucky demanded that Robinson "tell us about the governor of Indiana, when he has finished with the governor of New York."

"Indiana has stood as the saving grace of the Republican party on many occasions," shot back Robinson. "It is one of four states completely out of debt. Can the senator say that for Kentucky?"

Makes Direct Report On His Stand In Reply To Wyoming G. O. P.

(Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, March 21.—President Coolidge today took himself completely out of the 1928 campaign. Under no consideration will he accept the nomination if it is voted to him.

A very direct and final declaration by him was made today when the Republican State Central Committee of Wyoming urged him to waive his personal objection to accepting a nomination.

President Coolidge's reply was in a letter to Chairman Hinkle of the Wyoming committee. In part it was as follows:

"The president has received your letter of the 17th inclosing a resolution by the Republican Central Committee of Wyoming, and while he greatly appreciates the expressions of confidence, the president requests me to say that he must not accept."

The letter was sent by the President's private secretary.

Jury Finds No Blame In Auto Death Of Sacco

A coroner's jury hearing evidence into the death of Jose Garcia Sacco, killed in an automobile accident near the tank farm February 5, brought in a verdict that death was accidental and the cause unavoidable. The jury recommended that a strong fence be built at the curve of the road leading from the Fairmeade Country club and that the proper danger signals be installed. Coroner Aubrey Wilson presided over the inquest and Harry Pulse was foreman of the jury.

Paid Boy Scout Named By Board

Tentative selection of a paid boy scout executive for Richmond was made Tuesday evening at a meeting of the county executive board held in Martinez. The new man will have complete direction over all local scout troops, according to Claud Clark, Richmond realty dealer and chairman of the scout finance committee.

Board members adopted a budget for the fiscal year, from April 1 of this year to April 1 of 1929, calling for an expenditure of $8,300.

Members of the Lions committee who attended the meeting, besides Clark, were William Jenkins, Carl Overas, Frank Smith and A. Furrer. William Evans represented the El Cerrito troop.

United Veterans Name Committees

The appointing of various committees occupied the attention of members of the United Veterans of the Republic at their meeting held last night in Memorial hall.

On the employment committees, designed to furnish employment to veterans who are without jobs, are W. D. Wilson and R. E. Benton. Jobless veterans are urged to get in contact with the committee.

MANY SITES ARE OFFERED TO NEW PLATE GLASS CO.

Chances of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company locating in Richmond is one of the interesting matters concerning the city generally and local development organizations in particular.

For a year or two efforts have been made by various bay communities, including Richmond, to locate this plant. Los Angeles also has been busy. Now the company is considering actually building a great plant somewhere on the Coast.

Richmond is meeting great favor in the eyes of representatives of the corporation that have been out here. They have stated that the plant if built will cost $2,500,000 and will employ 500 men. The fact that the Ford company is to build here helps this city. Vast quantities of plate glass are used in auto manufacturing.

The fact that the company will use 1,500,000 gallons of water daily, in the plant if built, has been looked upon as a stumbling block in the way of Richmond. The bill for this would be about $100,000 a year at sales rates. However it is known that probably this amount of water could be produced in the territory to the north of Richmond lying between the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing Company's plant on Kearny street and the Bay. It is said that 1,000,000 gallons are being pumped there daily for use as agriculture plants, beside large quantities for industrial uses. These facts and all others concerning Richmond have been put before the glass company.

J. A. Bechtel, purchasing agent came first. He optioned a site in Los Angeles. He was followed by Vice-President Belvel. Both were entertained in all the bay communities and in Los Angeles. They have made reports on conditions to the board of directors and decision as to whether a bid decision as to whether a

RADIATOR REPAIRS

The service of a shop that really understands cleaning and repairing automobile radiators is a great convenience. Take the precaution of having your radiator examined before you attempt a long trip. Fenders that have been injured can be made like new at the same time. You will find a good place to have this work done in the Buyers Guide on the classified page.

The CORE

It is pleasing to note that William Muholland, chief engineer of the Los Angeles Bureau of Water and Power, has admitted that there were weaknesses in the St. Francis dam that were noticeable before the big structure collapsed. It seemed a pity that the harassed citizens of Owens Valley should have been suspected of plotting to dynamite the concrete mass. That any of the city residents had any such diabolical scheme in mind does not seem probable.

In the assignment of water to the city of Los Angeles from Owens Valley sources, there was a curtailment of water-levels. Much damage resulted. The natural consequence was a revolution of feeling on the part of the valley's farmers. That these good citizens should have been convicted to blow up the St. Francis dam, murder innocent human beings and smile at their fate does not weigh well in the balance of human events.

Los Angeles county is not our particular territory, so our comment might seem to be misplaced and not apropos, but we cannot refrain from shooting a Partisan arrow as we retreat from the charges of some of the Los Angeles officials. It did not look to us like fair play to charge all the ills that the Los Angeles water-cures may bear to some of the poor little farmers who have suffered the pains of what might be termed "Big city progress."

In the Hinch Hicky cross word puzzles of our Hetch Hetchy, and in some of the equally strange puzzles of East Bay and other water puzzles, we have seen few problems like that of the St. Francis Dam. Can you blame us for the final conclusion that just a bit of concrete and other "mistakes" entered into the construction of the towering pile that gave way at a tragic and inopportune moment.

PERILS OF CIVILIZATION

Four hundred or more persons probably went to death when a dam in California burst.

Somebody had blundered.

Somebody who failed to calculate correctly the tremendous pressure of twelve billion gallons of water.

Somebody who had failed to detect the slight leakage that weakened the foundations of a gigantic wall of masonry.

Civilization had built a great structure that several hundred thousand persons might have clear, pure mountain water to drink.

But civilization is not perfect, and this work of civilization proved imperfect. The result was a pitiful toll of death and an immense amount of property damage.

The loss of four hundred lives is tragically large, but it is small compared to the great number of lives that have been saved and made worth while by civilization.

The St. Francis was one dam that collapsed. Elsewhere are hundreds of thousands of dams that hold strong and sturdy throughout the years. Dams that make it possible for vast numbers of people to live together in crowded communities. That distribute countless gallons of limpid water.

Before modern engineering science had developed water and sewage systems to the present high state of efficiency everybody's life was in peril.

Epidemics that decimated the population were prevalent.

Filth took its toll in millions where now an occasional dam collapse takes the lives of hundreds.

One of the outstanding lessons of the California flood is, while civilization has its evident perils, that lack of civilization is infinitely more dangerous.

For civilization has brought with it the truth that human health and happiness depend upon right living.

But civilization cannot rest content with what it has already achieved.

Engineers should devote their attention to a study of this disaster so that never again shall a dam be built so weak as to imperil the safety of those unfortunate who live in the valleys below it.

BRITAIN'S FOREIGN TRADE

Announcement is made that the foreign trade of Great Britain for 1927, was unfavorable in the amount of some $2,500,000,000. This was a reduction of adverse trade of some $380,000,000 from the year previous.

Compare this with the favorable foreign trade to the United States last year amounting to some $900,000,000. The only big increase in exports was in textiles; and the largest increase was exports to the United States.

VIGOROUS HEALTH

THE LUNGS

Very few people know anything about their lungs and those who do seldom appreciate them. The lungs are among the most vital organs of the body yet they are sadly neglected. Most of the organs suffer from overwork, but the lungs suffer from neglect. Shallow breathing is an almost universal fault. What breathing is done is reduced in value by impure air, especially air filled with tobacco smoke and exhaust vapors from automobiles. There is need for more knowledge in regard to the lungs.

The lungs are made up of many branching tubes, much like the limbs and twigs of a tree, but instead of having leaves on the ends, there are little sacs called alveoli. These sacs and the tubes immediately adjacent to them are very small and thin-walled and are easily choked with dirt, smoke and other impurities which may get past the protecting hairs and mucus found in the nose. These little air cells are elastic and capable of considerable expansion, so that there is quite a difference in the size of the lungs between full inhalation and full exhalation. If the lungs are not distended regularly they lose their elasticity, and their capacity and functional ability is correspondingly decreased. There are only a very few points in regard to the lungs, but they show the importance of deep breathing of fresh air.

I have cavities between my teeth and large pieces of enamel have fallen off. Can a good dentist fill the teeth without removing the nerve, and is this process painful?

It depends upon the depth of the cavities whether the nerve will have to be taken out and how much pain will be experienced during the filling. However, you should not neglect your teeth merely because you anticipate some pain in having them repaired. The sooner you have them repaired the less pain you will experience, but do not neglect to correct your diet and general habits so as to prevent further cavities.

I have a blood pressure of over 200 which has resulted in several hemorrhages into the eyes which interfere with the vision. Medicines do not seem to help me. Will I regain my sight and what do you advise? MALCOLM.

Medicines will certainly never do you any good. The cause of the high pressure must be removed and the body given every opportunity to absorb the exuded blood. Some improvement in the sight is certainly possible, but whether or not complete results will be secured will depend upon the extent of your hemorrhages, the length of time since they occurred, and your natural reactive powers. The usual natural treatment would be repeated orange diets of four or five days each at intervals of three weeks with a limited diet of mostly fruits, vegetables and milk between. Exercise is limited to walking and deep breathing until the blood pressure has been materially reduced. Sun baths, carbon arc radiations or auto condensation can also be employed.

I am over 60 years old and am bothered with diarrhoea. Is there a simple remedy which I might employ to give relief? R. Why are satisfied with relief? Why not aim for a cure. I am not certain what you mean by simple remedy, but if you mean something that you can take and automatically escape the effects of improper diet, I am afraid you will be disappointed. Careful and persistent attention to every phase of right living will be necessary to give relief. The usual natural treatment would include fasting, a largely raw fruit diet, alternate hot and cold sitz baths, gradual exercise and deep fresh air.

CUTEST THING BABY EVER SAID

One sunny morning my little boy and I were going uptown in the subway and after a little distance it became dark. He turned to me and said: "Mother, what is the matter with the sun? Has it gone to bed?"

WHY I BLUSHED

I arrived by train one morning from a trip to Pennsylvania and was routed by a Pullman porter and forced to leave the train with a big mystery. Where were my pajamas? They were missing. I had an engagement to address the local Commercial Club, so I went there immediately. As soon as I had taken my coat off I noticed that every one was smiling, and one fellow yelled, "Why the tassel?" I looked, and sure enough there were the pajamas. After this when I sleep in pajamas again, I am going to have them cut like an old fashioned nightshirt so I will not be able to wear them away. A. KRATKI.

Dear Patricia Lee—

I have been trying to help my husband to take care of his mother. For the last six months she has been living with us; she is a semi-invalid, and most of the time is in bed. I have tried to do everything for her, but I found out she was complaining about me to my husband. I had been doing a little housework before she came, but I had to give it up in order to wait on her. Now she is going home, and my husband has to contribute to her support, although he is only one of three children. It seems to me out of a salary of $216 per month a wife should have more than $14 for her home. And then he wants to know how much is left over! I have tried to keep smiling and extend a helping hand, but I can't if I am to be blamed and the one to make the sacrifice. My husband doesn't fail to tell me that he works for his money and can do as he pleases with it.—Beulah.

Dear Beulah:

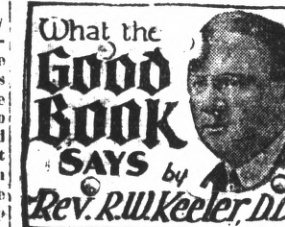

You are confusing the issues. Naturally you are hurt at your mother-in-law's attitude, but you must remember that she is an old, sick woman. I don't think your husband would be influenced in any way by those complaints and of course, he will want to contribute to his mother's support. Certainly you ought to urge him to give you more money for the household and your own expenses. Yet there is no reason why this should make any difference or have any relation to the money he sends his mother, and I think you will make a mistake in referring to it. Ask for the money, because you need it for your own expenses, but don't try to make him stop helping his mother. I think it shows a nice spirit.

Paris Frowns On Knees And Necks

Covered knees, high necks, curves disguised and raised waistlines are the leading features of the new spring mode, according to the report from Paris of Anne Rittenhouse, noted fashion authority, writing in the April McCall's. She says:

"Not only has Paris decided to cover the knees for Americans in the new frocks she sends over, but she disguises the curves and sharp lines of the body. Low cut linings are permitted. They take away the bulk of fabric over chest and shoulders, which is a French law of style. The knees are obliterated by swinging fullness rather than a sharply cut hem which would rise when one sits. Each Paris designer has an individual way of doing the same thing. But the unanimous verdict is 'Paris women have always hidden the knees. Why not American women? Long sleeves were frequently accepted in autumn. Now the collarbone is under a cloud of fabric."

"Paris, in her frantic endeavors to keep us from lazily adopting the same fashions, said the waistline was too far down. There was a hush and cry from women. But now that the higher and better waistline is an accomplished fact, we like it. Each dress has its line of demarcation well toward normal. It slightly disguises big hips. It calls for a narrower belt, and stresses a tight line."

GOOD MANNERS

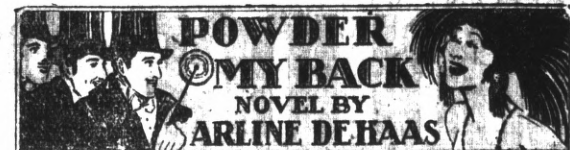

Q. When seated at a restaurant table should one spread the napkin apronwise across the lap, or should it be left partly folded? Should it be folded when the meal is over?

A. The napkin is only shaken out of its first folds, to be laid scarf-wise across the lap. It is not to be used as a protection or a towel. At intervals it is lifted to the lips, or the fingers are rubbed on it, as it lies across the knees. At the end of the meal the napkin is placed unrestored to its original folds, on the table besides the last plate used.

POWDER MY BACK NOVEL BY MARLINE DEHAAS

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc. "POWDER MY BACK," starring Irene Rich, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Marie Dayton, a famous musical comedy actress from New York, is playing in Paris in a new show called "Powder My Back," prior to a Broadway run. Adele's beautiful back is part of her notorious charm, and the manager of the show has just had photographs made of the star's titling admirers powdering her back, to be used as a publicity stunt in America. Meantime, out in Brookton, Iowa, Mable Atkins, a typical, small-town clubwoman, has stepped into the village post-office to collect the family mail.

She dropped in casually and greeted the wizened-faced mistress behind the little bars and asked for the Atkins's mail. The mistress searched in a box and drew forth several letters and a newspaper. The letter Mrs. Atkins scanned; knew that one was from a cousin of hers and would be full of family news and not particularly interesting; the other a reply from a seed catalogue firm in the East. The paper, which came from a larger town nearby, she tucked under her arm, and proceeded homeward with a light heart.

Once within the portals of the old Atkins's house, Mable took her groceries to the kitchen and prepared everything for lunch. By the time she was through her face was red and gleaming, and she decided to freshen up a bit before John, her husband, and Mildred came in, because one of her correspondence courses, which varied according to her moods, had said that the best way to keep a husband was to be always neat and clean and smiling.

Not that Mable Atkins feared the loss of John Atkins, in the least, because she would have torn the very hair from the head of the woman who would ever venture near John than the gesture of a handshake. Nor had John ever been of the flirtatious type. But the cult now prevalent among the women of Brookton was the cult of husbands, and out of that cult they received many extraordinary pieces of advice. So Mable, with her new peas and carrots boiling on the stove; her chops ready to pop into the pan, and her salad and dessert in the ice box, retired to her room and proceeded to remove the gleam from her nose. Then she went downstairs to compose herself and keep in tune with the infinite until such stirrings as food might come upon her.

She picked up the letters and read the lengthy one from Aunt Ellen, who really, according to Mable, had nothing to say at all, but she had nothing else to do save write letters. She glanced over the offers made by the seed catalogue and decided that it was too late to plant any of the Mexican Fire Bush, anyhow, and she'd have to let it go until next year. Some varieties of double cosmos intrigued her for a few moments, and she thought of what a nice hedge they might make against the white fence around the house, and they grew very tall, besides, and would keep the neighbors from looking directly into the house. Then she opened the paper casually and glanced over the headlines. Suddenly her eyes popped in horror.

WHO WILL BE THE NEXT GALLANT TO HOLD ADELE DAYTON'S POWDER PUFF?

She stared at these lines hypnotized, as though she could go no further. But the very lure of the lines held her attention, and she read on.

DAVIES FILM NOW SHOWING AT CALIFORNIA

More pictures like Marion Davies' "Quality Street" which opened yesterday at the California Theatre, are devoutly to be desired.

In the stellar role of Phoebe Throssel, Miss Davies gives the best performance of her screen career and does full justice to a role which Maude Adams made so dear to the theatre-going public. Little of the charm of Sir James Barrie's noted play has been lost in the translation to the screen. The director has struck close to the original vehicle, so close that he, for the first time in screen history, has succeeded in filming eight full episodes, aggregating almost four hundred scenes, in a single room.

Barrie concentrated his play into the Throssel drawing room and Director Sidney Franklin and the scenarists, Hans Kraly and Albert Lewin, have kept it there.

It is infrequently that such a noted play finds its way to the screen. Most stars would have been afraid to tackle the role of Phoebe Throssel, and their fear would have been well grounded. It took some master work for as good a portrayal as Marion Davies has given such a difficult part.

Marion's work in "Quality Street" shows she is the peer of any screen actress in the world. The part called for comedy, pathos, and straight drama—and it got them all.

Conrad does a good piece of work as the Barrie hero and brings to mind his good work opposite Miss Davies in one of her former pictures, "Lights of Old Broadway".

Flora Finch, who proved such a famous comedienne, with John Bunny, in the early days of motion pictures, does a real come-back in the role of one of the three spinsters, devoured by curiosity and given to much idle gossip. Marcelle Corday and Margaret Seddon as the other old maids, give performances, as does Kate Price in the role of the Irish servant.

Special mention should be given the fine portrayal of Susan by Helen Jerome Eddy.

The picture was filmed by Metro-Goldwyn Mayer and will long be remembered as an exceptionally fine film production.

Other features include "45 Minutes from Hollywood," a Glenn Tryon comedy; "Have a Drink," a screen novelty; and current news events.

"QUALITY STREET" has both quality and intelligent plot. It is one of the coming drawing-cards for the California Theatre.

MELODRAMA SCORES HIT AT THE RICHMOND

That melodrama as a play form has not lost its hold on public favor was evidenced last night at the Richmond theatre when a large and enthusiastic audience expressed its unanimous approval of the Universal-Film de France production presented by Carl Laemmle, the first picturization of Jules Verne's famous book and play "Michael Strogoff."

From the opening scenes when the "Czar of all Russia, entrusts to the hero, his "secret courier," a message to the Czar's brother, the Grand Duke, beleaguered at the head of the army in Siberia, 5,000 miles away, to the very end of that perilous journey in a rousing climax, the audience were deeply engrossed in the mishaps and triumphs, the perils and the daring of the intrepid hero, ably enacted by Ivan Moskine, referred to in the program as "Europe's Screen Idol."

Other film features include "Tie That Bull," comedy scream; and current news events.

Former Teacher Laid To Rest

Last rites for Mrs. Frances Smith, former teacher of the Grant school here, will be held in San Francisco today. Mrs. Smith, widow of the late Frank Smith of this city, passed away in the transbay city Tuesday night.

She was 65 years old at the time of her death. Mrs. Smith was one of the early members of the Richmond club and a leader in local civic affairs until failing health forced her to retire.

The funeral services will be conducted at 2:30 this afternoon from the chapel of Ashley & McMullen, Sixth avenue and Geary streets, San Francisco.

Mrs. Smith is survived by a brother, George Lincoln, San Francisco; a nephew, Frank Lincoln, and two nieces, Miss Edith Lincoln and Mrs. Walter De Wolf.

dustrial sites and its whisks. No animal loves its pastures, its cans, its waste paper more than a goat. And everybody likes a goat; answer, because it cleans up what others throw away. But in entering Richmond we have noticed that the goat is the best of all the domestic beasts. Now don't think this is said in anger, for it is not. We do not desire to butt in on any goat. But where are the land-sellers of yesterday? Did they not place stakes for the goats? Did they not lack concentration of both goats and town lots?

But all is changed. The realtors of today are not the goats of yesterday. They are moving forward with rapidly, helping the newcomer playing a fair game. We have a goat ourselves: it was staked out in the suburban center, and getting tired of the five-gallon gasoline it walked down to the Standard oil and tried to consume a retort. However, don't mind what we say. We merely mean that the time has come when Richmond will not have to ask about a goat, or why does a chicken cross the road.

In Oakland yesterday we heard something that made us stand up and get shaved. Joe Kelley, Alameda county's political leader, has decided that a laundry is too dry for his section of town. The wet laundry is what Joe was speaking about. He had talked with a lot of ladies and they told him that a tub is no swimming tank and that it is a lot better to have the family wash chucked into one of those whole-sale steam-washers than to have to maul it by hand. Joe knows how, when it comes to laundries and politics, so we suspect that he is standing in to win favor for one and votes from the other.

WIDOW FACES TRIAL FOR TAR, FEATHER CASE

(By Universal Service)
 SAN BERNARDINO, March 21.—Does a woman have the right to tar and feather a man and his son who tell untruths about her?

Mrs. Bernice Tucker, 36, a widow of the Colorado desert region of Twenty-nine Palms, thinks so. She successfully pleaded with Judge George W. Holbrook here today to hold her for jury trial for her tar and feather party of last week.

"I want a jury of twelve men or women to hear my story," Mrs. Tucker declared.

Fifty "gun-toting" neighbors of Mrs. Tucker's were in the courtroom today to witness her preliminary hearing.

Mrs. Tucker admitted that she intended to tar and feather Robert Furniss, who she had been told talked untruthfully about her. Mrs. Tucker said she abandoned the idea of tarring and feathering him, but sought to administer the punishment to his son, Fred, on the ground that the elder Furniss was too old.

Her plan did not meet approval of those who volunteered to aid at the "party," she said.

So Mrs. Tucker and her aides, including Deputy Sheriff Ed Ballou, decided it would be all right to tar and feather both father and son.

The Forum was the common market-place for all of ancient Rome. Today a few crumbling columns stand as mute reminders of its former grandeur.

In our present-day complex civilization, market-places have become scattered. It is no longer possible to visit them all in a morning—or even in a day.

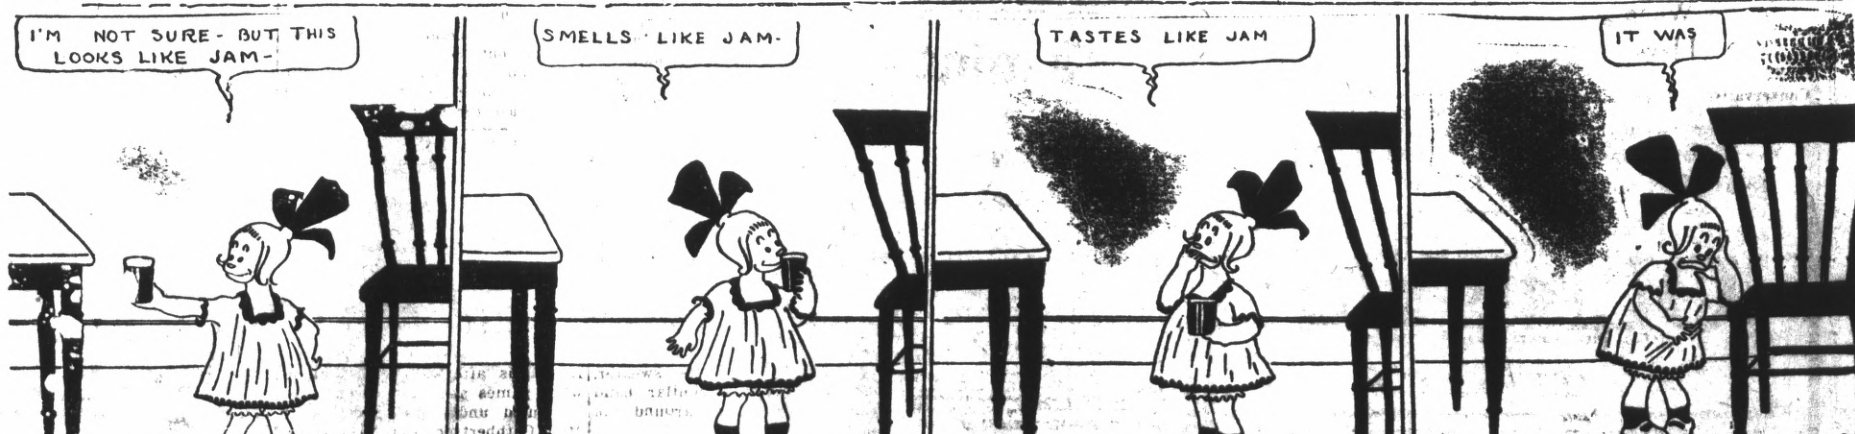

Advertising, instead, has become the convenient Forum of modern buyers and sellers. If you are considering the purchase of a new car, you scrutinize the automobile advertising. Or if it's a razor or a talking machine that you want, you turn again to the advertising. Here is the national market-place for merchandise.

Furthermore, as you leaf over those same pages of products, your mind is storing away for tomorrow a compact and valuable fund of information. Instinctively, you will remember those facts when you make your future purchases. Increase your store of knowledge by reading the advertisements regularly.

GOVERNOR FOR PORTER'S DOPE FARM STATUTE

(By Universal Service)
SACRAMENTO, March 21.—Governor C. C. Young called upon the California delegation in Congress tonight to throw its united support behind the Porter narcotic farms bill.

The Porter legislation, erecting two federal farms for the cure and rehabilitation of narcotic addicts, contemplates a humanitarian undertaking worthy of the strongest backing by California's representatives at Washington, the governor declared.

And he stated further that the federal proposal is in direct line with the plan of the California State government for treatment of "dope" victims.

Passage of the Porter bill, in the Governor's opinion will assist California greatly in carrying out the proposed State program, and on this ground, among others, the executive advocated the fullest co-operation of California's Senators and Congressmen in seeking enactment of the measure.

Governor Young forwarded the following letter to United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson:

"During the past few weeks I have written several times to you and other members of the California delegation in Congress respecting certain proposed federal legislation of especial interest to this State. Your response to these suggestions has been so cordial that I am moved to write about one more measure which seems to me of extreme merit.

I refer to the Porter narcotic farms bill, providing for the establishment of farms on which federal prisoners who are narcotic addicts may be treated and, so far as is possible, cured. We are interested in this, not only for what it will do for those addicts in federal prisons who come from California, but also because it is in direct line with similar work we are undertaking here.

We feel that the mere custodial care of the mass of addicts will hardly solve the problem, since, through the machinations of profit-seeking peddlers there will only be created a new crop of addicts who in turn must be put away and so on ad infinitum. On the other hand we believe that a measure like the Porter bill which seeks the cure and rehabilitation of the addict is worthy of our strongest support.

In California we are proposing to work out this problem with the utmost care. We shall take charge of such number of addicts as we can properly handle, and by giving to them the best medical treatment known to science, followed by after-care as they are restored to society, shall try to see if we cannot do something really constructive in finding the best and most effective way of handling this situation.

We in California feel that the Porter bill will help us greatly in this work, and would accordingly ask your co-operation in helping to make it a law. I am today writing similarly to the other members of the delegation.

Object of the struggle was the removal of opponents' trousers. The more bashful spectators were hurrying away when judges declared bout a draw. HONOR MEDAL GIVEN LINDY BY COOLIDGE

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, March 21.—The highest honor that is within the gift of his government—the Congressional medal of honor—was bestowed upon Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today in recognition of his unparalleled feats of aerial navigation during the past ten months.

Rarely has this honor been conferred for other than extraordinary feats of heroism in actual warfare, and it came to Lindbergh today from the hands of President Coolidge.

The ceremony was held on the south grounds of the White House, and was brief. It was witnessed by Vice-President Dawes, Secretaries Hoover, Wilbur, and Davis, Postmaster-General New, Speaker Longworth, Senators Curtis, Republican, of Kansas, and Robinson, Democrat, of Arkansas, and Representative Tilton, Republican, of Connecticut, and Garrett, Democrat, of Tennessee, the majority and minority leaders, the assistant secretaries for aviation, and White House attaches.

Lindbergh appeared, wearing a light grey suit, and bareheaded and without an overcoat. He stood in the chill wind as President Coolidge read the Act of Congress conferring the decoration, and blushed deeply, thanking the President briefly at the conclusion of the ceremony, as a battery of movie cameras recorded the scene.

Outside the White House gates, a crowd of several hundred persons watched from a distance, and gave Lindbergh a rousing cheer after the ceremony.

Prior to getting the medal Colonel Lindbergh appeared in Congress to "give a square deal" to army aviators.

He appeared before both Senate and House Military Affairs Committees to give his views upon pending bills to provide a separate promotion list for army aviators. Although refusing to directly express an opinion upon the measures, he told both committee that army aviators are not getting their just due.

BATTLE ON TO SAVE HANFORD CLUB KILLER

(By Universal Service)

HANFORD, March 21.—A "Hick-maque" battle to save Perry Allen Coen from the gallows on a plea of "not guilty by reason of insanity" was started today in Kings county Superior Court here.

Young Coen was convicted of the murder of Mr. and Mrs. Mace Artist, the parents of his sweetheart. The same jury which found him guilty of the murder is hearing the insanity plea.

The first defense move today was the calling to the stand of Dr. C. P. Kjaerboe of Fresno. The physician declared that in his opinion the murderer was "irrational," and that the young man was insane when he clubbed the aged couple to death.

FALL READY TO TELL HIS FULL STORY

(By JOHN KENNEDY)
WASHINGTON, March 21.—Informed that former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall has publicly announced that he is willing to "tell the whole story" of the leasing of Teapot Dome, the Senate Public Lands Committee tonight notified Fall it would be willing to hear him.

The former secretary cannot expect to live more than six months longer, his physician announced at El Paso this afternoon.

Following the statement of his doctors, Fall said he was willing to tell "all he knows" about the leasing of the Teapot Dome to the Sinclair interests.

"Although I may fool the doctors I want the public to know my story," Fall stated.

A telegram was dispatched to the former secretary and chief figure in the oil scandals, at El Paso, Texas, asking if he is willing to testify.

The committee told him that if he, a sub-committee will leave at once to take his story. The committee will await Fall's answer before leaving.

Chairman Gerald P. Nye and Senator Thomas J. Walsh were designated as a sub-committee to leave for Fall's home, in the event the answer is satisfactory. Because of the form in which the information came to the committee, the sub-committee probably will leave here Friday.

The decision was reached at a hastily called executive meeting of the committee late this afternoon, after Senator Walsh had been shown a newspaper interview which quoted Fall as inviting the committee to come to his ranch home.

The newspaper in which the interview was published communicated with Senator Walsh, who speedily called the committee together.

The information of the Senate meeting was communicated to Fall, who gave a second interview stating that he hoped the committee would make the trip.

Thus for the first time, Fall's story of his part in the famous oil scandal, as well as of other phases of the matter which have come to him will be revealed.

Fall has testified before but never told the committee of receiving $223,000 in Liberty bonds from Harry E. Sinclair a few weeks after the reserves was leased to him. Fall's son-in-law, M. T. Everhart, revealed this transaction to the investigating committee.

Many Sites Offered New Concern

plant will be located in the west is expected soon.

The site must be 3000 feet long and 400 feet wide. This makes about twenty-seven acres, so a thirty-acre site is desired. The sites here that have been offered are on the Goodale, Collins and other properties lying along the Santa Fe and the Southern Pacific between the Richmond northern limits and the Giant lands, but far removed from the Giant plant.

There is a run-off of "sludge" that must be taken care of, and it must be impounded on tide or swamp lands. The government will not permit it to be run into the bay and it cannot be permitted to dry as it blows away and fills the air. In the east it is run into rivers. There are swamp lands convenient to the Richmond sites.

Richmond organizations are keeping busy on the project of bringing the glass plant here. Los Angeles claimed to have had the plant "in the bag" but this is not carried out by the interest still shown in Richmond by the officials who have come to California.

AGED ENGINEER SAYS DAM WAS PROBABLY WEAK

LOS ANGELES, March 21.—With tears rolling down his cheeks William Mulholland, aged chief engineer of the Los Angeles Bureau of Power and Light, admitted today at a Corner's inquest that a new and fast increasing leak was visible in the St. Francis dam twelve hours before the giant structure tore loose from the canyon side and hurled a death-carrying flood of water upon hundreds of sleeping residents of the fertile valley below.

The gray-haired engineer also admitted that if he had to build the dam over again he would not use that location.

Pressed by the prosecutor for his explanation of the disaster, the engineer declared that he had "a horrible suspicion" but refused to put it into words because he had no evidence to substantiate it.

He referred, it is believed, to rumors of the last 24 hours that the dam was dynamited. It was revealed through Mulholland's testimony that he and his chief assistant, H. A. Van Norman, visited the dam eleven hours before it toppled into the canyon and loosed its flood of death upon the ranch homes below.

"We went to the dam in response to a telephone call from Tony Horshfeger, caretaker of the structure," Mulholland said. "When we got there we discovered that a leak had appeared the day previous at the point where a concrete left wing of the dam joined the hillside on the west. This leak, Tony told us, had appeared the day before as a slight trickle. But when we reached there it was flowing at the rate of a foot a second."

PASSENGERS OF FERRY CAUSED ROTH DEATH

(By Universal Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—Charges that George Roth, Southern Pacific ferryboat deckhand, lost his life Tuesday because passengers aboard another ferryboat interfered with the launching of a lifeboat, were made yesterday before Federal Inspector Frank Turner and Joseph Dolan.

Captain J. B. Chamberlain made the charges.

Roth, a deckhand on the ferryboat Piedmont, was one of five members of the crew who set out in a lifeboat Tuesday afternoon to rescue Bert Williams, 55, of 556 Waller street, who fell or jumped overboard from the Piedmont.

Williams was saved, but Roth was drowned when the Piedmont lifeboat capsized. Captain Chamberlain, operating the ferryboat Molroese, stopped to lower a boat. Then, according to what Chamberlain told the inquiry board:

"A crowd tried to launch a boat. They interfered with us. If they hadn't, Roth would be alive. The man chiefly at fault is Ed M. Spencer, 1074 Fourteenth street, Oakland."

Spencer is held by Oakland police on Chamberlain's technical charge of disturbing the peace. Chamberlain said he would "prosecute to the limit."

Other testimony given at the inquiry yesterday tended to show that the Piedmont lifeboat may not have been properly launched. It was swamped as soon as it touched the water.

George C. Borges, a Piedmont deckhand testified:

"The ferry had not stopped. That I'm sure of for the paddlewheel almost drew me under when the lifeboat turned over. I am a good swimmer, but was being drawn under. Ferreria, a deckhand saved me."

Alex Smetanin, another Piedmont deckhand, testified that the painter or rope in the rear of the lifeboat which, when a lifeboat is launched, is generally held by someone on deck to steady the boat, was not used.

The inquiry will continue today.

Reduced Rates Invite greater use of electricity

It is now possible for customers to make greater use of electricity for better lighting, heating, cooking, and the operation of modern electric labor saving appliances.

Heating and cooking by electricity at rates as low as 1 1/2 cents makes it more attractive for those customers not now using this clean, quick, convenient fuel.

New rates benefit large and small users

In addition to providing a material reduction in the minimum monthly cost to those who use very little, the schedules also provide new and much lower rates for the energy consumed.

The effect of the new rate on each consumer depends upon his use of the facilities available to furnish service. The more used, the lower the average rate.

Electricity is cheaper—you can use more of it

Our representatives will be pleased to explain the new reduced schedules in detail.

STRINGERS QUINTET TAKES BEATING FROM PETALUMA

Coming back strong after clinging to a narrow lead throughout the first half, the Spartan cage team of Petaluma took the measure of the Richmond Stringers on the Roosevelt gym court last night by a margin of 29 to 15. The lads from the egg district kept the local five on the small end of a 19 to 14 count to close the initial half, and close guarding kept Richmond from finding the basket from the field during the second half.

Last night's win gives the Petaluma cagers two wins over the Richmond team, the first game going to the visitors by a close score in a contest staged on the former's court.

The Stringers were hopeful for revenge last night, but found themselves blocked at every attempt to put on a rally.

A preliminary contest scheduled to be played last night between the 145-pound quintets of the Stringers and Spartans, was cancelled when the Petaluma team failed to put in an appearance.

PLANS LAID FOR NEW BALL LEAGUE HERE

Representatives of several Richmond ball clubs planning entrance in a proposed city league will meet next Wednesday night and lay plans for the coming season. It was made known yesterday.

It is understood that a half dozen or so teams will enter the league. It is definitely known that the R. B. Douglass Hard-ware club will be one of the contenders. The team is managed by Archie Kemble, and will probably open the season with the same faces in the lineup as appeared last season. One or two changes will be made to bring the club to full strength.

Kemble announced that players wishing to tryout for the team should get in touch with him at 2226 Macdonald avenue.

"Doc" Seawright, city recreational director, will meet with the delegates.

School nurse, says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping." Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless. It works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Steger Golfer Beats Lincoln Course Record

A new course record of 61 strokes was hung up by Johnny Perelli, Steger, Junction, playing over the Lincoln Park course last week. The former record was 63. The Steger golfer also holds the course record for the Feather River Inn course with a mark of 66, and the Berkeley Country Club course with 66.

The foursome in which Perelli participated last week was composed of Miss Ada Day, motion picture actress, Cowboy Jack Willis, Texas pugilist, and A. A. Scott, Los Angeles realtor.

The Bear track team will journey to Los Angeles tonight to meet the Los Angeles Athletic club, who are favorites to win.

20,000 SEATS FOR STADIUM

Plans are underway for the enlargement of Memorial Stadium at Berkeley, calling for 20,000 new seats which will give the bowl a double-decked appearance. The estimated cost of the enlargement is set at around $700,000, and will be financed by the issuance of scrip to students and alumni. At $100 a book, it would be necessary to issue 7,000 scrips.

More than 70,000 fry trout have been planted in the Feather river. A brood of pheasants will also be planned in Feather river district.

Now it's a Pleasure

—it was a habit—

Shaving used to be an uncomfortable habit. Now, men using the Valet AutoStrop Razor—with the new "Valet" blades—find shaving a genuine pleasure.

The new "Valet" blade was developed after twenty-one years' of practical experience with shaving problems. To identify it—the name VALET is cut through the blade. You recognize its quality with the first shave—and even the tenth or fifteenth shave with the same blade—convinces you that it is the greatest achievement in the history of shaving.

LOUDERBACK IS NAMED JUDGE OF U. S. COURT

(By Universal Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—Ending a protracted deadlock on appointment of a third Federal judge for the Northern California district, President Coolidge nominated Superior Judge Harold Louderback for the post today, according to dispatches from Washington.

Louderback's name was submitted to the President by Senator Shortridge almost a year ago. Although the appointment must be ratified by the Senate before becoming effective, no opposition is expected.

Since the third Federal judgeship was created permanently by Congress in 1926, numerous candidates for the position have been advanced, but the choice latterly simmered down to three—Louderback, Judge Franklin Griffin, recommended by Senator Johnson, and Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant to the attorney-general. Louderback was supported by numerous jurists, attorneys, business and church leaders and officials of patriotic organizations.

The nominee, a native San Franciscan, was first elected to the Superior bench in 1920, and was re-elected in 1926. A graduate of the University of Nevada and Harvard Law school, he was admitted to the California bar in 1908. During the late war he entered the first officers' training camp and became a captain in the Coast Artillery Corps.

The post for which he was nominated corresponds with that left vacant by the death of the late Judge John S. Partridge, whose judgeship lapsed with his death. Since a new Federal judgeship has been created by Congress.

Veteran Of West

Dies In Oregon

HEALDSBURG, March 21.—Ex-

claiming tales of the covered wagon days, of tomahawk and scalp, of frontier trials, of the gold fever and all the adventures of the pioneer will be told no more to the youngsters hereabouts by Tillman S. Hess.

For Hess, the sturdy centennial, is dead.

He passed away today at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Marie Ellidge.

Eighty-four years ago he and his father, in a party of almost 1,000 hardy pioneers, left Arkansas and followed the old trail to Oregon. They cleared the forests and raised stock, between skirmishes with the redmen, until 1870.

Then Hess wandered down to Modoc county, had more trouble with the Indians, and was the first man to find gold in the county. Four years ago he moved from Alturas to Healdsburg.

He is survived by seven children and a number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

DALLAS SAYS HE SHOT RAPP DURING RUMPUS

(By Universal Service)
SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—Pete Dallas, third street dice-roller, yesterday walked into Room 5, H-11 of Justice and "spilled the works."

Cool as a cucumber, Pete told the police his version of that little bit of gun play out on Columbus avenue, in front of the Follies Cafe, early day before yesterday. Cutting the details of the battle, Frank Rapp, beer peddler, got in the way of a flying bullet of lead. It was fatal for Frank. A couple of friends picked him up from the sidewalk. And a woman wept.

Sure, says Pete yesterday after stalling a while, and waving those accomplished hands of his, he shot Frank Rapp, alias Vucenzi.

"Then he 'spilled all the low down' of his story. Police call it 'alibi,' but Pete, with his attorney, Harry McKenzie, say no; that Pete, to use his own word, is 'innocent.'"

He didn't talk at all, first. Lieutenant Charles Dullea told the Greek, lucky at cards, unlucky with women, that the police believed that stray bullet didn't 'really stray so much after all, but came well aimed at Frank Rapp from Pete's own gun. Pete grinned.

The police didn't. They lodged a formal complaint of murder and Pete went upstairs in the city prison elevator to think it over. Couple of hours later he talked. Here's what happened, said Pete:

First place, this stuff about Pete being crazy about Mabel George or Mabel Edwards, the fifty little dancer who used to hoof it at the Follies Cafe, is all wrong.

Pete didn't care anything about the dame.

Frank Rapp thought he did. That was the trouble. The girl liked Frank. And Frank averts Pete Dallas got huffy. He accused Pete of having the kid bounced from the Follies Cafe because she wouldn't be nice to Pete.

Pete says he denied framing the girl.

Well, things drifted along. Then, says Pete, Frank with "a couple of his Sicilian friends stops me one night and invites me for a ride. He called me a lot of names."

Dallas refused to go riding and says he dared Rapp to—"Kill me 'right away; I've got no gun."

The police admit this much to be true. That Dallas, after that meeting, came to Central station and complained that his life had been threatened by Rapp and others.

The records show the complaint all right.

Then day before yesterday.

Dallas says he was walking near the Follies cafe. That Frank Rapp came out and repeated the not-so-true name and banged the Greek a couple in the face. Here, Attorney McKenzie, takes up the yarn.

McKenzie avers that in the struggle that followed, Rapp drew a gun, that the gun dropped to the sidewalk, that Pete Dallas picked it and plugged Rapp, in self defense. Then he beat it in a car.

The police gain questioned Mabel, the little dancer, yesterday. But they didn't get far. Neither did the reporters. Nary a word from Mabel. She closes the door in your face, and weeps a little more for Frank. A good scout he was, she says.

TIMES TELLS OF GREAT AIRSHIP

Says the London Times:

The largest all-metal monoplane ever built in this country, known as the Beardmore Inflexible, is now at the Martlesham Heath Experimental Station of the Air Ministry. Although a great deal has been known about this machine for months past, it is only now possible to refer briefly to its purpose and construction.

It is a huge metal monoplane of exceptionally large span, fitted with three Rolls-Royce Condor engines of 650 h.p. one in the nose and the other two set one on each wing. The monoplane was originally designed as a passenger-carrying machine, and in its exceptionally large fuselage it was proposed that a spacious cabin should be fitted. Its landing wheels have a diameter greater than a man's height, and its all-up weight is considerably more than that of the Blackburn Iris flying boat, which is the largest successful flying-boat yet built. The weight of the Inflexible has been unofficially stated to be 20 tons, but this is an overstatement, though its fully loaded weight is probably over 15 tons.

It is, in fact, doubtful if any

Mayor Talks To P. T. A. At Tea Served

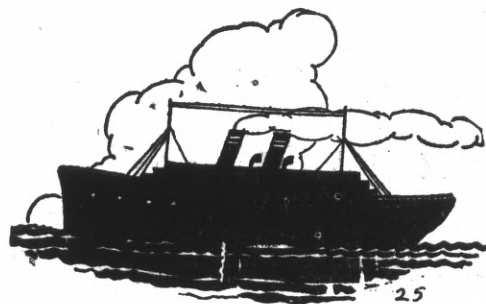

Mayor Mattie Chandler addressed the members of the Woodrow Wilson Parent-Teacher association yesterday afternoon in the school. The affair was a "silver tea" during which a program was presented under the direction of Mrs. Charles Brombacher.

Violin solos were played by Miss Madeline Tossant, accompanied by Miss Emma Meyers. The Kiwanette Trio composed of Mrs. Irma Shallenberger, Mrs. Marie Posa and Mrs. Ruth Bergen sang a group of songs and were accompanied by Mrs. Vera Kneeling. Herman Jette presented a reading and dances were offered by Betty Archibald, Dorothy Heineman and Jeanne Johansen.

Machine of equivalent weight has yet been flown successfully. The construction of the monoplane is radically different from that usually associated with aircraft, and is based on the designs of Dr. Rohrbach, the German engineer who designed the large Zeppelin-Staaken monoplane during the war period and has since developed further a form of girder construction on standard engineering lines. Two of these girders connected with bracing and a metal skin form, in fact, the main part of the wing, and are made in one unit. To this is added the forward section of the wing and also the trailing edge, which remain separate entities.

The idea of a giant aeroplane has attracted many designers. The Germans are credited with planning a flying-boat of 10,000 h.p. to carry 130 passengers, while in America a machine to carry 50 tons or 100 passengers has been frequently referred to. It is extremely doubtful, however, if such aircraft are practical propositions.
